

AMUNDSON PARTY FAILS TO REACH POLE

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF LA FOLLETTE

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY REMAINS OF SOLON TO WISCONSIN

Funeral Monday—Wheeler
Heads Senators Who
Form Mourners

Washington, June 19.—Away from the strife of politics, away from the scenes of his greatest triumphs; away from the worries and toils of a swift-moving world, Senator Robert Marion LaFollette of Wisconsin, starts home today for his well-earned rest.

And he goes, as he said just before his death, "at peace with all the world," and "with love in my heart for all the people which sustained me throughout life."

But before he is carried away for the last time to Madison, Wis., he will lie quietly in that little home in Wyoming Avenue, where, with a smile on his lips, and surrounded by those dearest to him—his family—he closed his eyes in eternal sleep.

There he will pause for a brief few hours, that the people he loved and for whom he fought for so many years, might pay final tribute to his memory.

And to him these people came throughout the long, hot day. They were of all sorts, rich and poor, high officials and clerks, one in grief at the passing of this dynamic little man who for more than three decades, had been so prominently in the national political arena.

They came to express condolences to the widow and the two sons and daughters and to pause a moment before the unpretentious coffin that held his mortal remains. There was grief, deepest grief, in the little, flower-filled home, but for all it seemed as if "Dad," as they had always called him, had laid down to rest and had fallen asleep, and the whisperings and tip-toeing were that he should not be awakened.

They were a brave lot—his family—and they bore up well under the terrific strain. For weeks they had gone sleepless to stay by his side as he lay seriously ill—they had administered his every need; they realized that the end was approaching but they never flinched, not one and least of all Mrs. LaFollette.

LaFollette always hated trapping and pomp and hypocrisy. He lived a fulsome life—three score and ten—of utmost simplicity.

In death, simplicity will mark his last journey homeward, and his funeral.

The funeral train, a special section of the Capital limited of the B. and O. railroad, will leave Washington at three o'clock for Madison. The coffin will be placed on a simple catafalque in the observation car. The family will occupy compartments in the same car. Other cars will be occupied by members of the senatorial delegation appointed to attend the funeral and close friends of the family.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, who was LaFollette's vice presidential running mate, will head the senate group.

The route lays through Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Stops will be made only to change engines. At Chicago tomorrow morning the special will be shunted to the Chicago and Northwestern for the trip to Madison.

The funeral party will arrive in the state capital Saturday afternoon. The body will lie in state in the capitol building Saturday night and Sunday and burial will be Monday.

MAC MILLAN FLYERS SHOULD BE LICENSED

Quebec, June 19.—The position of the Canadian government regarding the United States flyers with explorer MacMillan was stated today by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior.

The minister said objections had been made by the MacMillan aviators landing on Canadian Arctic territory. The minister said the attitude of the dominion government was that members of the MacMillan expedition as well as others who might wish to cross Canadian Arctic territory should first obtain a license from the north-west territory branch of the interior department.

Everything possible would be done by Canada to assist the MacMillan expedition the minister said.

TO HAVE BENEFITS

Columbus, O., June 19.—Organization of a state employees' beneficial association, to provide illness and death benefits for workers employed by the state, has been completed here, it was announced today.

YOUTH FALLS TO DEATH FROM ROLLER COASTER

Buried Mother

CHARLES P. GROGAN, INTL.

Through the confession of his stepfather, Dr. Thomas Young, in Los Angeles, Charles Patrick Grogan, seventeen, learned that he had mixed and poured the cement used to hide the body of his mother after the husband strangled Mrs. Grace Young shortly after their marriage.

BASEBALL SCRIBES NAME COMMITTEES

Cleveland, O., June 19.—James M. Gould, president of the Baseball Writers Association of America, today announced the appointment of the following committees:

Rules: John B. Foster, New York; chairman; James R. Harrison, New York; William G. Evans, Cleveland. Auditing: Melville E. Webb, Jr., Boston; Ed Ballinger, Pittsburgh; William Slocum, New York.

The rules committee will co-operate with the major league at the joint session next winter in revising and simplifying the present baseball code, there being a few sports where the rules are now contradictory.

MURDERER OF EIGHT IS FOUND INSANE

Hamilton, O., June 19.—Lloyd Russell, who killed eight of his relatives at their home here June 4, was found insane by Judge Palmer in probate court Friday morning.

Russell was ordered committed to the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Lima.

Drs. Mart Millikin and F. P. Zeff were the examining physicians. They reported to the court that they found Russell to have an abnormal mind, and that at the time of the killing he had a duty to perform in killing the members of his family.

TWENTY EIGHT DIE IN RUSSIAN TORNADO

Moscow, June 19.—Twenty-eight persons were killed and hundreds injured in a tornado which wiped out two villages in the province of Altai, according to advices received here today.

Shipping in the Black Sea also was hampered by the storm which swept from the southern Siberian province along the coast.

Snow covered northern Russia, for the first time in a century in June, as an aftermath of the southern storm.

COLLAPSE OF INS URGENTS PARTY TO FOLLOW DEATH OF LA FOLLETTE

Washington, June 19.—The political consequences of the death of Senator LaFollette will be far reaching.

In the opinion of Republican and Democratic leaders here his removal from the American political scene at this time will mean:

1.—The crumbling of the little block of insurgents in the senate.

2.—The collapse of the independent third party movement which LaFollette started a year ago, and

3.—An opportunity for the regular Republican organization, not only in Wisconsin, but throughout the northwest, to capture control from the LaFollette followers.

The third party was built solely around LaFollette and had nothing except a national ticket before the voters. Immediately after the November election in which the Wisconsin senator polled more than four and a half million votes, the strongest groups in the LaFollette ranks—not

Ohio Flyer Hero Of Arctic

London, June 19.—Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, the Ohio aviator, who accompanied Raold Amundsen in his attempt to fly to the North Pole, rescued two members of the expedition from drowning while Amundsen's plane was ice-bound. Commander Christian Prestrud, naval attache in London of the Norwegian government, declared here today.

Prestrud was with Amundsen when he discovered the South pole. "I have not all of the details as yet of what happened during Amundsen's flight," Prestrud said, "but I have heard a great deal of Ellsworth and his determination to reach the Pole."

"I feel sure Ellsworth will work with Amundsen to start a new expedition, but probably the new expedition will be with an airship, because, it seems to me, Amundsen has demonstrated the impracticability of aeroplanes flying to the pole."

"An airship could not land at the pole, but it could fly over it and make observations and possibly anchor over the pole."

"You will hear more of Amundsen and Ellsworth. I am sure they have not finished with their ambition and that they will yet reach the North pole."

"It was a remarkable feat," continued Prestrud, in commenting on the hardships of the expedition, "for six men to extricate an aeroplane weighing a ton and a half from packed ice."

"One of the most dramatic moments when the six men climbed in one plane, uncertain whether it would 'take off' because, after four weeks, they could not be sure it would operate. They burned their bridges behind them because they had abandoned most of their equipment. If they had been forced down a hundred miles from Spitzbergen, they would have had a hard fight to reach civilization. With little food and equipment they made a bold gamble and won."

"One of the remarkable things proved by the trip is that the fuel did not last as long as was expected. This probably was due to the cold atmosphere."

FAIMAN'S TESTIMONY MAY CLOSE STATE'S CASE AGAINST SHEPHERD IN TYPHOID TRIAL

Robert White, "Mystery Witness," May Not Be Called
By State—Germ School Head Sticks
To Story Under Grilling

of the cross examination by defense attorneys of Dr. Charles C. Faiman today, the state was expected to be near the close of its case against William D. Shepherd, on trial for the murder of Billy McClintock.

It is not believed that Robert White, the "important witness" for the prosecution, who so mysteriously disappeared and then as mysteriously reappeared, will be called by the state.

The end of the case, so far as presentation of evidence is concerned, probably will be reached by Saturday and Shepherd's fate known early next week.

TWO DEAD; FIFTEEN INJURED AS TRAIN HITS OPEN SWITCH

Three Investigations Are Started
To Determine Cause Of Rail Crash

Kenton, O., June 19.—Triple investigations conducted by the state utilities commission, the county coroner and the railroad got under way here today into the wreck at Grants, near here late yesterday, which resulted in the death of two persons and the injury of fifteen others.

C. C. Woodward, 40, of Toledo and John James, 30, were instantly killed. Dwight A. Fawcett, trainmaster of the Sandusky division of the Big Four, of Bellefontaine; Frank Pogue, Hoehnewald, Tenn., and a child of Mrs. F. M. Rockledge, Detroit, were the most seriously injured.

A southbound Big Four passenger train, enroute from Detroit to Cincinnati, ran into an open switch. Three coaches were derailed and thrown into a ditch.

Early reports were to the effect that a mixup in orders was responsible for the accident. Dispatchers said that orders had been given for the train to take a switch while repairs were being made on the main line. The train crew said these orders had not been received.

DEATH LIST GROWS

Hackettstown, N. J., June 19.—The death list in the Lackawanna railroad wreck at Rockport near here Tuesday grew to forty five today with the death in Dover Hospital of John Krinckitz, 69, of Chicago.

TRANSFUSE BLOOD FOR MRS. J. P. MORGAN

New York, June 19.—A second blood transfusion operation has been performed upon Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, wife of the financier, it was learned today. The latest transfusion to combat the effects of sleeping sickness from which she has been suffering in an acute form, since last Sunday, was administered last night.

Mother Love

IN BABY CASE, INTL.

Mother love caused Winifred Gilmarin (left) to abandon her baby in a Brooklyn, N. Y. hallway "so the baby would have a chance in life." After the girl's arrest, Mrs. Annabelle Tarney, of Jersey City, N. J., (also shown) offered to adopt the child "to give it the chance."

COMPANION HURT IN PARK TRAGEDY; MAN DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Failure of Motorist To Dim Lights Blamed
For Accident

Marion, O., June 19.—Leonard Hoffman, 18, of Galion, is dead and Miss Roxalena Garcelon, 18, Charleston, W. Va., is in a critical condition in City hospital, after having been thrown from a roller coaster in which they were riding last night at Crystal Lake park here.

Hoffman died at 7:25 this morning without having regained consciousness. His skull was fractured when his head struck a wooden guard rail in the fall. The girl suffered internal injuries and a possible broken back.

According to other passengers in the three car train, the pair were hurled from their seats as the cars shot over a "hump," falling to the track below. It is thought that they had loosened the guard belt which each passenger is obliged to fasten before beginning the trip.

FIVE KILLED; SIX HURT

Cincinnati, June 19.—Failure of another motorist to use his "dimmers" is said to have caused an automobile accident in which one man was killed and five other persons injured near Dent, O., early Thursday.

Charlie Hirsch, 29, a chauffeur was driving the auto which was wrecked. Hirsch was blinded by the glaring lights of an approaching machine and lost control of his car, which swerved from the road.

Frederick Bauersfeld, 40, was dead when taken from the wreck. His wife, Hanna Bauersfeld, 35, and son, Charles, 14, Margaret Rapp 14, John Kramer 31, and Hirsch, were injured. Kramer is expected to die and Mrs. Bauersfeld is seriously hurt.

PATENT RELICS TO BE RECLAIMED NOW

Washington, June 19.—Down an alley in an old barn in Washington, a group of scientists and curators started today to dig into a pile of junk that represents the original efforts of some of the world's most noted inventors.

In that collection, which includes inventions that have made history and revolutionized industrial processes, are 155,000 models of mechanical devices submitted to the patent office between 1790 and 1880.

For years these relics of the industrial past have been stored in a rat-trap barn, constantly exposed to destruction by fire or removal by thieves, in spite of their priceless historical value.

Those of historical value will be presented to public and private museums. Others will be sold or destroyed prior to July 15. Officials estimate that it has cost the government $200,000 to maintain the collection since 1884.

SINCLAIR WINS TEA POT DOME OIL CASE

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 19.—Harry F. Sinclair won the famous Tea Pot Dome oil lease case this afternoon when Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy read his decision in the action wherein the United States government sought to annul leases made to Sinclair on 8,000 acres of naval oil land in Wyoming valued at $500,000,000. The leases were made by A. B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

Judge Lacey, 50 year old "Little Napoleon," local counsel for the Sinclair interests, was on hand with several minor Sinclair officials for the reading of the decision. Federal District Attorney Walton, of this city, represented the government in the proceedings. Judge Kennedy spent more than six weeks studying the voluminous sheafs of testimony, depositions and briefs which far exceeded the million mark in wordage.

Trial of the suit began here March 9.

OHIO AUTO OWNERS AGAINST GAS TAX

Cedar Point, June 19.—A general feeling that the gas tax is all wrong, that there ought to be more and better roads and that the motorist is not getting the attention to which he is entitled at the hands of the state, the county and the municipality were the outstanding features of the opening of the annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association here.

The convention has brought together about five hundred delegates and an equal number of visitors.

Wreck Heroine

MARIE LOUISE HAAKER

Miss Mary Louise Haaker, of Park Ridge, Ill., the only nurse aboard the D. L. & W. train that was derailed during a terrific storm near Hackettstown, N. J., proved herself a heroine in rendering first aid to scores of victims.

ELEVEN OF WHISKEY CONSPIRATORS WILL RECEIVE SENTENCES

Russell Among Convicted To
Hear Penalty Saturday—
Will Be Heavy

Cleveland, O., June 19.—The eleven known members of the great Hayner whiskey conspiracy, convicted or who pleaded guilty in federal court here will be sentenced by Judge D. C. Westenhaver tomorrow morning.

Joshua E. Russell, deposed federal prohibition director of Ohio, Merle B. Copeland, executive clerk and Warren E. Barnett, prominent Columbus lawyer and politician, who were found guilty by a jury here last week, probably will receive the heaviest penalties.

The eight other men in the plot that flooded northern Ohio with government bonded whiskey, have pleaded guilty and some testified against Russell, Copeland and Barnett. It is conceded in federal court that helping the government cases lightens sentences.

Judge Westenhaver, however, has openly declared that the defendants who testified could expect no leniency. The maximum penalty is two years in Atlanta penitentiary and $10,000 fine. Other principals in the plot who will be sentenced are:

Peter J. Higgins, Pat J. Scanlon; Ed Scanlon; Carl Flaps and Frank Evans, all of Youngstown; Harry Gossberg, Armand A. Gardos and Louis Gluck, Cleveland; Abe Ungerleider, Columbus broker, confessed member of the ring received immunity for his testimony.

WILL AID FUND

Columbus, O., June 19.—Governor Donahay, State Auditor Tracy and U. S. Senator Fess and Willis with representative citizens of various Ohio cities, are members of the American legion endowment fund state committee which will supervise the raising of $400,000 for use in aiding widows and dependents of soldiers.

KIRBY TAKES STAND AS OWN STAR WITNESS IN TRIAL FOR LARCENY

Cleveland, O., June 19.—Josiah Kirby, "super salesman," founder and former president of the Cleveland Discount Company, took the stand as his own star witness at the resumption of his trial in common pleas court here today on charges of larceny of forty-two shares of preferred stock in the concern, the alleged property of George L. Fix, of Cleveland.

Previously Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, presiding, had overruled a motion by Kirby's attorney for a directed verdict of not guilty.

"It appears to me," Judge Wolf said, "that so far as the testimony in this case is concerned, the defendant has in the main done nothing that could be construed as illegal. However, there are important questions involved and I believe the case should go to the jury."

EXPLORER TO AGAIN ATTEMPT AIR TRIP; NORWAY IS JUBILANT

Flyers Get Greetings at
King's Bay—Plane

Oslo, June 19.—Captain Raold Amundsen was the national hero of Norway today. An official message of congratulation was forwarded by the Norwegian government to the explorer, who with his party, has returned safely at King's Bay, Spitzbergen after being missing twenty eight days in the regions of the North Pole.

"The Norwegian government," the message said, "sends you and your brave companions hearty greetings and congratulations on your wonderful journey. Welcome home."

Amundsen, Ellsworth and the expedition crew of four men returned yesterday to King's Bay, aboard a Danish sailing steamer. The expedition got to within 150 miles of the North Pole according to advices today. No land was sighted.

Amundsen plans, it was said, again to try to fly to the pole.

Details of Amundsen's daring trip were eagerly awaited by all Norway today. The news of his safety was received with rejoicing. National anthems were played in public places and crowds stood in the streets, cheering.

There was much conjecture here today what Amundsen's conclusions will be as a result of his flight. He said he was not able to see many miles beyond the point where one of his aeroplanes was frozen in an ice lane. When he started on the return journey in the second plane, he said his "observation" indicated there was no land in the vicinity of the North Pole.

It is believed from preliminary reports which have come from him at King's Bay that he is convinced that on the Norwegian side of the Polar Regions there is nothing but ice and open water.

Explorers and scientists here were discussing the probable effect of Amundsen's experience on the other exploration parties and specifically whether it would deter the MacMillan expedition which had been preparing to leave the United States.

Throughout Norway there were many expressions of condolence for Lieutenant Ellsworth, the Ohio aviator who accompanied Amundsen. Ellsworth's father, who helped finance the expedition, died in Italy while the world was wondering whether the North Pole flyers were dead or alive.

Ellsworth was greatly moved on his arrival at King's Bay to learn of his father's death. He was quoted as saying that all of the money coming to him from the estate of his father would be at the disposal of Amundsen for further exploration.

Early reports of Amundsen's experience do not indicate the expedition suffered hardships, although scientists here emphasized that the Amundsen feat required great fortitude and persistence.

Amundsen had not reached a decision whether to return to Lady Franklin bay 130 miles from King's Bay, for the aeroplane which he left there when the returning expedition boarded the Norwegian sealer. It was not thought here he would go to Lady Franklin bay, but would send a salvage crew or request the Norwegian government to dispatch a cruiser to bring back the plane. There was another possibility that either the steamer Farm or Hobby, which aided Amundsen in getting started on his initial flight, would go to Lady Franklin bay.

The viewpoint of Norwegian scientists on Amundsen's experience, were summed up by Dr. Skattum, president of the Norwegian geographical society.

"It was not expected said Dr. Skattum, that Captain Amundsen could land at the exact situation of the North Pole. The fact that he has been away twenty eight days proved that he has obtained useful observation data in spite of great difficulties."

"It was a far easier feat for him when he reached the South Pole. Then he had land all the time."

BOULAY IN FAVOR OF NON-PARTISAN ROADS

Columbus, O., June 19—Recommendations by State Highway Director Boulay that the state highway department be removed from political influence so that greater progress may be made in road construction, are being considered today by the special legislative highways committee.

Other suggestions offered by Boulay in a comprehensive plan for improving Ohio roads, including the construction of 20 foot inter-city highways, and widening other roads to eighteen feet. Boulay also suggested that the practice of appointing county surveyors as state resident engineers also should be stopped.

MODISH MITZI—Adelaide Rises To An Emergency

By JAY V. JAY

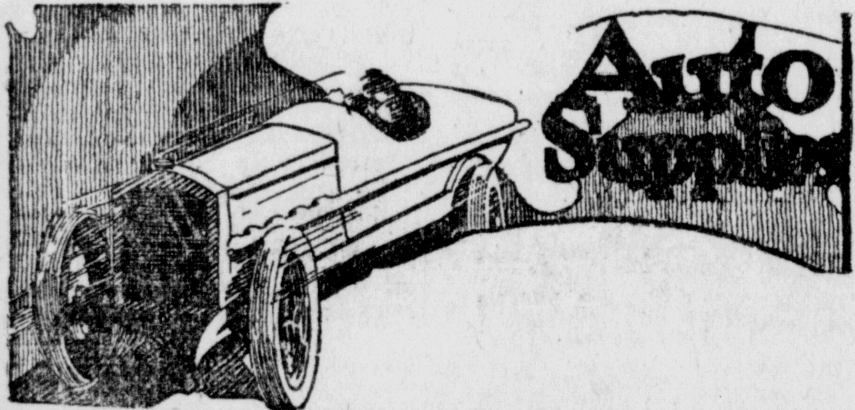

Adelaide appears a bit perturbed. There seems to be no reason for it. She is wearing a charming evening dress charmingly, and she is looking at nothing more disturbing than Mitzi and Polly engaged in amiable conversation. They are not even talking about her.

Mitzi's new gown is something to talk about, though. "Quite the very newest thing," Mitzi is explaining. "Not really any more fashionable than having the skirt fullness in front, but just a little bit newer. That's why I got it and I'm sure there isn't another one here this evening."

"Not that it really matters," murmurs Adelaide to herself, "but, then, why let her do it?" Adelaide's straight gown with its round neckline slips over her head as easily backwards as forwards. Then a bit of adjusting to the ribbon streamer and Adelaide surveys herself.

A complete success. If Mitzi has an evening gown with the new back fullness, so has Adelaide. Mitzi is wondering if that dress isn't vaguely familiar... a porcelain blue chiffon. Her own is coral, trimmed with dyed mouflon. Its odd back neckline is new and quite piquant.

BUSINESS WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS AT ANNUAL MEET

Miss Nelle Fletcher has been chosen to guide the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club the coming year, succeeding Miss Faye Ledbetter. It was announced at the final meeting of the year, held on the lawn at the home of Miss Elsie Canby, Thursday evening.

Miss Fletcher has taken an active part in the club work since its organization and has held various other offices during the past few years.

Other officers for the ensuing year are: Miss Henryetta Logan, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Lichter, recording secretary; Miss Nelle McKay, corresponding secretary and Miss Edith Marshall, treasurer.

Committee chairmanships are appointive offices and will be announced later. Following the election announcement, Miss Ledbetter presented Miss Fletcher with the club charter, gavel and a bouquet of roses, expressing her good wishes. Miss Fletcher asked the co-operation of the members in a short talk of acceptance.

The annual open outdoor meeting was attended by ninety of the club members and their guests. The beautiful lawn at the Canby home conformed well with the arrangements of the meeting. The floral background formed a perfect setting for a charming play, "The Romancers," translated from the French, presented by the dramatic art class.

Only the first act, a complete story in itself of the throat play, was presented, the Misses Doris Meahl, Clara Wright, Elsie Canby, Virginia Fletcher and Mrs. Clara Reutinger, taking leading parts. Other characters including bandits, eunuchs, musicians, and desperadoes, were taken by other club members.

OUR CHAMPION LOSERS.

WE all know how the great fleet of merchant ships now on the hands of the government came into existence. We began it at a time when enemy submarines were rapidly destroying the available shipping of the allies, and the issue of the war seemed to depend on more than counterbalancing this destruction. We could not foretell the probable duration of the war, and it seemed best—or rather, safest—to build on an enormous scale. When the war broke, there were of course a great number of ships only partly built, with others legally contracted for, and it was deemed best to finish them, rather than to scrap the whole outfit as it stood. Many now think that this decision was unwise, but that is all in the past, and the important question now concerns the future.

During 1924, a little over 300 freighters were operated by the government. The cost of operating them was $90,878,000, and the revenue accruing from them only $63,484,000 leaving a loss of about $27,393,000 to be met by the American taxpayer. The only ships operated at a profit were 17 tankers, which earned over $865,000 above expenses. The passenger ships operated all recorded a loss. The Leviathan made 13 round trips across the Atlantic during the season, at a loss of more than $1,000,000. Officials of the fleet are said to justify the running of the Leviathan and other passenger ships at a loss, on the ground that they serve to attract trade to the government cargo vessels, but it would be difficult, one imagines, to substantiate that claim.

It is no wonder, with this record, that congress, the administration, and thoughtful citizens in private life, are somewhat worried over the outlook. Just how much is the country willing to pay, in constant losses on operation, in order to be able to say that it possesses a great merchant marine? President Harding reached the conclusion that the fleet should be put on a subsidy basis, but congress could not be persuaded, evidently believing that the general sentiment of the country is against a permanent ship subsidy policy. It is a hard knot to untangle, both politically and economically, and no one seems yet to have devised a formula which promises to win public approval. About the only sign of progress towards a solution lies in the fact that the longer we delay the solution, the more of the ships wear out, and hence the less the problem becomes.

NARCOTICS.

VIOLATIONS of the Harrison anti-narcotic law are increasing with a total of between 110,000 and 150,000 drug addicts in the country now, according to Major Roy A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner.

This statement, coming from Haynes himself, may cause wonder as to why he should interest himself in the drug situation when federal liquor law enforcement is still enough of a problem to keep him busy.

It is possible there may be some connection between the two, and that Haynes is attempting to show that curbing of the liquor flow through enforcement has turned the more serious liquor addicts into drug addicts in seeking for the stimulant that their systems crave.

If his figures presage a growing condition of this nature, America may find itself in the position of having to turn its attention to another grave situation. The possibility of the suggestion is considered grave when it is remembered that the smuggling of narcotics can be so much more easily accomplished than the smuggling of whiskey.

One drug bootlegger can carry enough drugs into this country in a suit case to supply hundreds with the narcotic it is said, landing at night along unprotected shores from vessels stopping out in the neutral zone.

If the drug trafficking is on the increase it will serve to detract considerably from the glory of the prohibition departments report, as given by Haynes, that considerable progress is being made in that direction.

BETRAYED BY CAESAR

Last night he took my Caesar from the shelf,
My school days Caesar of the long ago,
For he has come to Latin now himself,
The Latin which I learned but do not know;
And running through its pages found with glee
And old report card which belonged to me.

The ink had faded with the passing years,
But legible the figures still remained.
Vain is the speech I've poured upon his ears,
For proof of my performance he had gained.

He laughed aloud and shouted out: "I see
The best you got in Latin was a three!"

Betrayed by Caesar! Thirty years or more
That book has waited for his youthful eyes,
Waiting for him to run its pages o'er
And catch his father in a pack of lies.

"A three in algebra! Just fair!" said he,
"Couldn't my dad get better than a three?"

I blushed, I know I blushed to see his grin.

"You weren't so good yourself," he chuckled low.

"I thought you gathered all the honors in."

It seems to me that once you told me so."

And then I laughed, to hear the rascal add,

"You didn't always stick to business, dad."

A reader, (Mrs. H.) has requested an article on cake mixing. Cakes are divided into two main classes: those which contain butter, and those which do not.

Under the "butter" cake classification, come simple layer, loaf and cup cakes, rich butter cakes, fruit cake, chocolate cakes, Devils' Food cake, gingerbread, etcetera. Under the "with-out butter" head comes ordinary sponge cake (containing both the whites of eggs and the yolks); white sponge cake or Angel cake (whites only); and Sunshine cake which contains either all yolks or yolks in greater number than whites.

To mix a simple butter cake (I will tell how to mix sponge cakes sometime next week, begin by rinsing out the mixing bowl with hot water and drying it. Into this warm bowl put one tablespoon of butter and with a wooden spoon, cream till very soft. Then add one cup of granulated sugar, a little at a time, creaming constantly. Next add the yolks of two eggs which you have previously beaten to a light but not stiff frothiness. Mix thoroughly. Now also add one half cup of sweet, cold milk alternately with one and one-half cups of bread flour (two level teaspoons of baking powder must previously have been sifted with this flour) and beat vigorously. Add one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract and continue beating, for several minutes at least. For the more you beat the batter at this stage (before folding in the two stiffly whipped egg whites) the finer grained it will be. Just before baking, fold in the whites, turn the mixture into a greased loaf-cake pan, slip it into a moderate oven and bake for 40 minutes.

Fruit Cake: You can make a good fruit cake of the above given batter, if you will add to it one cup of dried currants, one cup of seedless raisins, one cup of sliced citron, and one-half teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, mace and nutmeg.

But here is a point which the inexperienced housewife seldom understands: that when eggs are beaten separately (as above directed) the result is a light, fluffy cake which should be eaten the same day. But if you want a cake that will keep several days and remain moist, beat the egg yolks with the whites and add them just before adding the flour and milk.

BROTHER

The only brother I ever had died when he was but a few months old. But in the fancy of my heart the incident was but one of sleep from which he awoke long years ago to stand beside me in spiritual stead ever since—when I most need him.

I have always felt how fortunate anyone must be who has a brother. So close is the relationship that custom has tried to pull it away from its own nest and expand its life into other channels. And so we hear of the brotherhood of man, of brotherly kindnesses, and of other attributes that mean nearness and harmony of thought and action.

There is everything fine and noble and inspiring in a brother's loyalty and companionship. Having no living brother, I have often picked from my little handful of friends one about whom I have woven the garments of a brother. But all too often the garments have slipped off or have been laid aside. And the brother of my dreams has vanished!

Still I have been fortunate in having much of a brother's loyalty and love handed back to me from among those whom I have trusted and loved.

There is something very thrilling about the word "brother." And though I have missed having a brother, it is the next thing to have been the father of a wonderful pair of brothers. A brother understands so much more and sees so much further than any other person.

I always liked the incorporated name where the brothers were added. When I was a boy I liked certain cough drops because they were made by brothers whose pictures on the box made me feel they got on wonderfully well and gained great happiness out of life.

There are many brothers who miss out on their job. I wish that I might have their chance. For to be a brother is a great chance and an opportunity to serve double in the world.

Nothing should ever come between brothers.

BAYLIFFS HOPE TO WIN FIRST GAME IN CONTEST ON SUNDAY

The Bowersville Bayliffs, Greene County's hard luck baseball nine, will make a determined effort to get on the right side of the win and lose column in the game with the Springfield Roush Constructors Sunday afternoon at Bowersville.

The Bayliffs lost a heart-breaker to Centerville last Sunday in an extraordinary tussle when the Bowersville twirler weakened under the extreme heat and allowed the visiting team to tally the needed runs to win.

The new Bowersville pitcher, Shaw, exhibited good form on the mound in the last game and is counted upon to turn in the initial win Sunday.

The Bayliffs are represented by a strong team this season. Fielding is up to par, pitching has been good, but sharp resounding hits, have been lacking in the pinches. The latter fault was partially overcome in the last game and members of the team have apparently found their batting eye, so that good results in the hitting line may be expected Sunday.

The Roush Constructors team is the former Springfield Ramblers under a new name. The change in name was made due to the fact that the Ramblers team is being financed by the Roush Construction Company.

The Springfield team, playing for the first time under its new name last week, defeated London by a 7 to 6 score. Redman is the team's star pitcher and opposing batters have experienced trouble in solving his offerings.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

RESERVES TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD TEAM

The Reserves will stack up against one of the best teams they have yet faced when they meet the Millard Clothiers of Springfield at Washington Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Clothiers are formerly the Mill Athletic nine which showed here several times when the Bayliffs were playing. On one occasion they beat the Bayliffs by a 9 to 0 count while the next game they lost 8 to 4. This season the Millards have dropped but one game and this was to the F. O. E. of Springfield in the K10 League. They beat the Eagles though the next game they played.

Pocket and Bill Folds

Horses, calves, pigs, goats and sheep contributed the hides, the manufacturer's the splendid appearance, nature the tuffness and me the low prices. Buy one.

Fountain and Police News

It's a mighty good thing our fountain holds a lot of ice for it would have burnt out a bearing last week if it hadn't been frosted. Xenia sure is a thrifty place and they sure do bring in big ones for us to cure.

Talcum Powders

We have 38 1/2 brands of talc priced anywhere from 10c to a dollar a can. No matter how priced your hide is we've a talc to match it.

Tank News

I was out to the pool yesterday and I sure saw plenty of my swimming caps bobbing about. I came back and re-ordered and by the time this ad is printed they'll be in. Come in and get first crack at 'em.

Insects

We've got arsenate of lead, Paris Green and slug shot all which are aimed at bug funner.

For years I've been wanting to put that statement in print and up to now I never had the nerve! Here's WHY we don't give 100 percent service:

First place you folks don't come REGULARLY! If I knew that there was going to be 492 customers each and every day and that we could divide that 492 into the 12 hours of the day, I'd figure out that I'd have a helper who would take 20 of these customers off my hands, thus allowing me 5 minutes to a customer. Naturally I wouldn't mind very much at that. But what do you do NOW?

There'll be several hours during the day when Jake and me will carry on a fine contest of thumb twiddling and then, just as we figger we'd better light a cigar, 15 or 20 of you folks will bust in all wantin' to be waited on at once! And Jake and the rest of us sure stretch a leg trying to please all of you. But that's NOT 100 percent SERVICE! If I gave 100 percent service, I'd keep ten clerks ambushed in the back of the store ready to spring out on the floor immediately a new customer entered. If I did THAT, I'd have to quit eating buying gas, living at home, wearing clothes, shaving and going to shows. Either that or double the price of everything in the store.

Now you know where I stand, do your stuff!

DOC SAYRE

Shorty Says:-

I feel like two bushels of mush in a bushel bag in this outfit—spilling what I mean. There's plenty bull around this store without me entering two calves this way, the I will say I don't show up so bad at that. Doc and the rest of 'em claim a man to be well rounded out ought to play golf. I've been rounded out for years and all I've ever played is poker. I've got a natural "poker face." I can grin and frown and worry and all anyone can see is my beard twitch and up to yet no one has been able to read the twitches. Take a smooth face and you can read it like a book. Gosh, what I'd do to Doc!

I start golf next week. I'm practicing wearing the suit this week.

als. This is the time of year a bug or an insect goes in strong for large families. Use your own judgment.

More About Bugs

Fly Tox is sprayed, Black Flag is powdered and neither one is a tonic for flies. If you want still more action we have Roach Killer, Ant Killer, Rat Poison and Bug Killers all calculated to discourage.

Spots

Are all right on leopards but don't help a skirt or a pair of pants none. Elkays and Mutti remove 'em.

Freckles and Sunburn

Sunex PREVENTS sunburn and worries a freckle so much it leaves. UNGUENTINE takes the heat and smart away after you've GOT sunburn.

Feet!

Those of us who have feet should take care of them for we don't get a second set like teeth. Tiz and Rex foot powder do that little thing most handily while a corn plaster or a corn pad helps one to strut most happily.

Germicidal Soap

Should be the national soap for summer use! It cleanses, heals, kills germs and PREVENTS PERSPIRATION ODORS all with one big swipe. It's the perfect soap and while a bit more expensive worth many times its price to the fastidious person.

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepys, Jr.-Awoke at half past three of the clock listening to some dogs bray at the moon; and then lay long thinking about a foolish dream had of how I had given a mighty beating to Tullis of the Xenia Farmers' Exchange and of how he cried for help, so hard did I beat him.

Greatly bothered with a dull pain that does continue to trouble my side and I pray that it is not my appendix, as the common ailment these days. A right good breakfast and one different, having a mess of peas with potatoes first, and then a platter of lettuce, all exceedingly well-seasoned to my liking, so set the day off in mighty good spirits.

Anon to Dayton to the U. B. Publishing House to see if I could see a play I have written and could not get little encouragement. Stopped at a poultry farm on my return and got a mess of fresh eggs, which I broke when my car hit a bump, plague take it.

Home where saw three colored women going by with fishing poles, and each had a nice catch, too, and were being mightily looked upon by all, it being the most pleasant sight I have seen in many a moon. Read a roughish story in the print about a fellow who is a beggar so that his mother must work and pay his bills, which I am truly sorry for.

At a late hour sat to cracking some walnuts, and picking out the kernels, so that we could have candy, a treat I like above all else. And so late to bed with prayers.

FINE DAY

A Yellow Springs fellow named Fox, smeared vaseline over his lox; His girl didn't know it, Her shoulders will show it—He ruined 16 of her frox.

"AUTO PARKING-FREE ENTRANCE" reads a sign in Dayton. Yes, yes, that sounds very well. But there is a catch, or whatever you call it. How about a free exit? Several Dayton people read this page regularly. Folks a over Greene County read it.

SILENT KNIGHT

There was a young flapper named Flipper That night after supper Who once had the barber to clip her; Her dad took his slipper And gosh! how the old man did whip her.

"When the SON has gone to rest, that's the time that I love best," says Timothy Titus, who is courting Abigail Snodgrass. Abigail has a younger brother, EGT, the point? How about phoning that ad tomorrow. Read every ad now.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL AID HEART TAG DAY
CAMPAIGN SATURDAY

"Have a Heart and Help an Unfortunate," will be the appeal of many of Xenia's young people Saturday, who, under the leadership of Mrs. J. J. Stout, will co-operate with the Volunteers of America, in helping to put over the tag day in behalf of Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth's many activities in Ohio.

Headquarters are to be at the Assembly Room, Court House, where those who have been invited to compete for the many pretty prizes and movie passes generously offered by Xenia merchants and theater managers, are asked to come Saturday morning, soon after 9 o'clock, to receive their tags and instructions.

For the one who obtains the largest amount for their tags, J. Thorb Characters, jeweler, will give a $4.50 gold pencil. The second prize will be a $1.75 fountain pen, given by Sayre and Hemphill. The third winner will receive a pair of roller skates, donated by the Greene County Hardware Company.

The fourth prize is a kodak given by Sohns Drug Store. The fifth, a $1.50 box of candy, offered by the Xenia Candy Kitchen and the sixth prize, given by Jobe Brothers, is a compact.

"During the past three years," said Mrs. Booth, in one of her recent radio talks, "more than 100,000 children in America, have been helped to future good citizenship through our organization."

Mrs. Booth's work has the endorsement of President Coolidge, who says: "I have so long been familiar with the work of the Volunteers of America and entertain so high a personal regard for General and Mrs. Booth and their associates that I find a special satisfaction in expressing the hope that your fine endeavors may continue to be amply supported by the public."

The organization has headquarters in Ohio at Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Mansfield, Canton, Columbus Dayton and Cincinnati.

FATHER'S DAY WILL BE OBSERVED SUNDAY

"Father's Day," sponsored by clothiers and furnishers of the country, will be observed Sunday. Business men are seeking the co-operation of members of "Father's" family to see that he is remembered along with mother, who now has the vote and equal rights.

Suggestions are being made of the gift of hats, shoes, socks, ties and collars for "the governor." He might enjoy a box of cigars too, or a new golf club.

Xenia merchants are favoring the plan, and emphasizing the importance of "Father's Day."

LIFE SAVING EXPERT OF AMERICAN RED CROSS GIVES SWIMMING POINTS

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixth article in the series of twelve giving pointers with a view to lessening drownings. The seventh will appear tomorrow.

LESSON VI
TENDENCY TO "SHOW-OFF"
FATAL IN WATER
BY COMMODORE W. E. LONGFELLOW.

Life Saving Expert American National Red Cross. (Written for International News Service.)

Swimming is the first water sport to learn. If you are considering the thrills of surf riding, aquaplaning, canoeing under sail, speeding 40 to 50 miles an hour in a high-powered motor boat, or even a fishing trip in a small boat you will be safer if you first learn how to swim.

No water sport is safe for a "sink easy", as a new swimmer that cannot go 50 feet is called. In many children's camps new swimmers are required to wear a small fishing sinker around the neck with a piece of bright-colored ribbon. A fisherman's float or "dobber" is sometimes used instead to give the swimming instructor a chance to watch these novices in the water. Some such plan of marking all inexperienced swimmers at shore resorts would simplify the whole problem of guarding bathers against drowning.

WATER EGOTISM FATAL
The one who can swim a little or can do a few showy dives without being an efficient swimmer is the most dangerous factor in the water. In analyzing the causes of drowning, the "show-off" the "half-baked" swimmer who insists on being the center of attraction, heads the list by a big margin.

The Delaware Safety Council, analyzing drownings in that State, discovered that males between the ages of 18 and 35 (the mating ages) were the most frequent victims of drownings. They felt the impulse to prove to the admiring onlookers that they were the best aquatic performers—they dove into shallow water, they swam toward mid-stream or they entered the breakers and started for the other side of the ocean without thought of coming back and without the ability to return. This type of fellow would be just as popular and far happier if he won the right to wear a life saving emblem on his bathing suit.

Be an efficient swimmer!

AUTOS DAMAGED

Two autos were damaged in a collision between a truck of the City Waterworks Department and another machine at Main and Galloway Streets Thursday.

The Ford truck, driven by Arthur Sidenstricker, was being driven west on Main Street while the second car, driven by a man named Cook, was proceeding east on Main Street. The second car, in order to make the Galloway Street turn, is said to have cut in and collided with the truck.

The city machine was damaged to the extent of a broken fender, front wheel and axle. The occupants were not hurt.

IS BOUND OVER

Gabriel Lytle, of Circleville, was bound over to Common Pleas Court by Squire J. E. Jones in Justice of the Peace Court Wednesday when he pleaded a plea of guilty to a charge of disposing of mortgaged property. His bond was fixed at $500 by Squire Jones.

Lytle was arrested Monday by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Special Deputy Sheriff Diver Belden.

What one Woman
35 Years ago

Years ago, when the first spoonful of Calumet Baking Powder was used, one housewife learned the secret of success on bake-day. She found that what she had thought bad luck in the past was really the fault of inferior leaveners.

Over a third of a century has passed since that housewife experienced the perfect results that came from using

CALUMET
THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Today millions upon millions have realized the same satisfaction that goes with using a perfect baking powder.

Calumet has more friends than any of the other brands on the market today—women who after one trial found that for uniform, wholesome bakings it has no equal.

Don't forget that a few cents worth of unreliable baking powder can ruin several dollars worth of other ingredients used in baking. Use the best and know what the results will be.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXIII.
The yachting trip didn't come off; that is, in so far as Michael and Lilah Menlow were concerned.

Aunt Mary kept to her bed in the morning, complaining of pains in her chest. She held out against summoning a physician until afternoon, when a brisk young practitioner came and easily diagnosed the trouble as pleurisy.

"One week in bed, at least," he commanded, with whole youthful gravity he could summon.

She pleaded with Michael and Lilah to take the cruise anyway, but Lilah would not fear of it, and Michael diplomatically chimed in.

"I insist that you two go anyway. There's nothing wrong with me, except that I ate something that didn't agree with me." But they didn't go. Lilah had been looking for just such an excuse. Michael alone was disappointed, but solely because it deprived him of the only opportunity he had ever had to know the feel of ocean waves.

The second day of her indisposition found Aunt Mary as temperamental as a spoiled child, and for the first time Michael and Lilah felt uncomfortable under her roof.

"I guess we'd better be clearing out," he said, as they were having dinner alone. "Let's go tomorrow, and spend the spare days at the Grand Canyon."

"I don't think we ought to go on such short notice. She'll think we're running off just because she's sick."

"We will be. My, she's peevish, isn't she?" She laughed. "I wonder if she thinks the trouble is really the result of something she ate. The real reason, of course, is that she is getting old and can't stand the flapper pace."

Something caused him to look up and see the serving-maid listening to him with rapt attention. The scene burned itself into his imagination.

They wandered in the breezily cool garden after dinner, counting the stars as they appeared. A sentimental mood fixed itself upon Michael. He halted Lilah under a palm, and for a full minute their lips met in ecstatic union.

"Are you very happy, Lilah? Tell me the truth."

"I am happy Michael." Her eyes revealed to him that she was speaking the truth.

They started walking again. "I have been thinking dear," he said, "that we'd be much happier if we were to remain out here. I love it, don't you?"

She gave his arm a squeeze. "Yes, let's do!"

"I wonder if Aunt Mary still wants me to be her business manager?"

"Let's ask her—you ask her!"

"I will in the morning." They went into the house, and a rap gained them admittance to Aunt Mary's bedroom. They found the serving maid there. She excused herself, her face Michael noticed, flushed.

A hoarse voice cried out: "Go away, children, and don't bother me—I don't feel like having company."

They retreated. Their puzzled eyes met when they had closed the door.

"What on earth do you suppose is the matter?" Lilah asked in a whisper.

"She evidently is peeved about something besides her illness," Michael agreed, remembering how the elder woman had looked at him.

"I know what's the matter!" Lilah exclaimed, when they were back in the garden. She looked around furtively. "The maid told her what you said while we were having dinner."

Michael recalled the flushed face with which the maid had greeted them in the sick-room.

"By George, I'll bet you're right! But, say, I don't see why she should get offended at that!" "Of course not—you wouldn't!" (To be continued.)

AMUNDSON PARTY FAILS TO REACH POLE

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF LA FOLLETTE

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY REMAINS OF SOLO TO WISCONSIN

Funeral Monday—Wheeler
Heads Senators Who
Form Mourners

Washington, June 19.—Away from the strife of politics, away from the scenes of his greatest triumphs; away from the worries and toils of a swift-moving world, Senator Robert Marion LaFollette of Wisconsin, starts home today for his well-earned rest.

And he goes, as he said just before his death, "at peace with all the world," and "with love in my heart for all the people which sustained me throughout life."

But before he is carried away for the last time to Madison, Wis., he will lie quietly in that little home in Wyoming Avenue, where, with a smile on his lips, and surrounded by those dearest to him—his family—he closed his eyes in eternal sleep.

There he will pass a brief few hours, that the people he loved and for whom he fought for so many years, might pay final tribute to his memory.

And to him these people came throughout the long, hot day. They were of all sorts, rich and poor, high officials and clerks, one in grief at the passing of this dynamic little man who for more than three decades, had been so prominently in the national political arena.

They came to express condolences to the widow and the two sons and daughters and to pause a moment before the unpretentious coffin that held his mortal remains. There was grief, deepest grief, in the little, flower-filled home, but for all it seemed as if "Dad," as they had always called him, had laid down to rest and had fallen asleep, and the whispering and tip-toeing were that he should not be awakened.

They were a brave lot—his family—and they bore up well under the terrible strain. For weeks they had gone sleepless to stay by his side as he lay seriously ill—they had administered his every need; they realized that the end was approaching but they never flinched, not one and least of all Mrs. LaFollette.

LaFollette always hated trapping and pomp and hypocrisy. He lived a fulsome life—three score and ten—of utmost simplicity.

In death, simplicity will mark his last journey homeward, and his funeral.

The funeral train, a special section of the Capital Limited of the B. and O. railroad, will leave Washington at three o'clock for Madison. The coffin will be placed on a simple catafalque in the observation car. The family will occupy compartments in the same car. Other cars will be occupied by members of the senatorial delegation appointed to attend the funeral and close friends of the family.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, who was LaFollette's vice presidential running mate, will head the senate group.

The route lays through Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Stops will be made only to change engines. At Chicago tomorrow morning the special will be shunted to the Chicago and Northwestern for the trip to Madison.

The funeral party will arrive in the state capital Saturday afternoon. The body will lie in state in the capitol building Saturday night and Sunday and burial will be Monday.

MAC MILLAN FLYERS SHOULD BE LICENSED

Quebec, June 19.—The position of the Canadian government regarding the United States flyers with explorer MacMillan was stated today by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior. The minister said objections had been made by the MacMillan aviators landing on Canadian Arctic territory. The minister said the attitude of the Canadian government was that members of the MacMillan expedition as well as others who might wish to cross Canadian Arctic territory should first obtain a license from the north-west territory branch of the interior department.

Everything possible would be done by Canada to assist the MacMillan expedition the minister said.

MURDERER OF EIGHT IS FOUND INSANE

Hamilton, O., June 19.—Lloyd Russell, who killed eight of his relatives at their home here June 4, was found insane by Judge Palmer in probate court Friday morning.

Russell was ordered committed to the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Lima.

Drs. Mart Millikin and F. P. Zerk were the examining physicians. They reported to the court that they found Russell to have an abnormal mind, and that at the time of the killing was laboring under the delusion that he had a duty to perform in killing the members of his family.

TWENTY EIGHT DIE IN RUSSIAN TORNADO

Moscow, June 19.—Twenty-eight persons were killed and hundreds injured in a tornado which wiped out two villages in the province of Altai, according to advices received here today.

Shipping in the Black Sea also was hampered by the storm which swept from the southern Siberian province along the coast.

Snow covered northern Russia, for the first time in a century in June, as an aftermath of the southern storm.

COLLAPSE OF INS URGENTS PARTY TO FOLLOW DEATH OF LA FOLLETTE

Washington, June 19.—The political consequences of the death of Senator LaFollette will be far reaching.

In the opinion of Republican and Democratic leaders here his removal from the American political scene at this time will mean:

- 1—The crumbling of the little block of insurgents in the senate.
- 2—The collapse of the independent third party movement which LaFollette started a year ago, and
- 3—An opportunity for the regular Republican organization, not only in Wisconsin, but throughout the north-west, to capture control from the LaFollette followers.

The third party was built solely around LaFollette and had nothing except a national ticket before the voters. Immediately after the November election in which the Wisconsin senator polled more than four and a half million votes, the strongest groups in the LaFollette ranks—not

Ohio Flyer Hero Of Arctic

London, June 19.—Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, the Ohio aviator, who accompanied Raold Amundsen in his attempt to fly to the North Pole, rescued two members of the expedition from drowning while Amundsen's plane was ice-bound, Commander Christian Prestrud, naval attaché in London of the Norwegian government, declared here today.

Prestrud was with Amundsen when he discovered the South pole. "I have not all of the details as yet of what happened during Amundsen's flight," Prestrud said, "but I have heard a great deal of Ellsworth and his determination to reach the Pole."

"I feel sure Ellsworth will work with Amundsen to start a new expedition, but probably the new expedition will be with an airship, because, it seems to me, Amundsen has demonstrated the impracticability of aeroplanes flying to the pole."

"An airship could not land at the pole, but it could fly over it and make observations and possibly anchor over the pole."

FAIMAN'S TESTIMONY MAY CLOSE STATE'S CASE AGAINST SHEPHERD IN TYPHOID TRIAL

Robert White, "Mystery Witness," May Not Be Called
By State—Germ School Head Sticks
To Story Under Grilling

on of the cross examination by defense attorneys of Dr. Charles C. Faiman today, the state was expected to be near the close of its case against William D. Shepherd, on trial for the murder of Billy McClintock.

It is not believed that Robert White, the "important witness" for the prosecution, who so mysteriously disappeared and then as mysteriously reappeared, will be called by the state.

The end of the case, so far as presentation of evidence is concerned, probably will be reached by Saturday and Shepherd's fate known early next week.

Faiman was due for a hard grilling when the case was to be resumed today. His cross examination by Attorney Stewart for the defense is not finished, in the latter's effort to "tear Faiman's fairy tale to pieces."

Faiman thus far, however, has successfully avoided all pitfalls into which Stewart has tried to lead him and if he continues to do so to the end it is evident to courtroom observers that Stewart will have difficulty in impeaching his testimony by his own mouth.

Faiman stuck to his story for one whole day without faltering in his declaration that Shepherd and he worked together to commit the murder for the sake of the victim's wealth.

He is the witness whom State's Attorney Crowe would not call to the stand, explaining that he "could not vouch for him" and the witness whom attorneys for the defense denounce as an unmitigated liar. And yet he is the only witness thus far who has directly accused Shepherd of the crime.

A southbound Big Four passenger train, enroute from Detroit to Cincinnati, ran into an open switch. Three coaches were derailed and thrown into a ditch.

Early reports were to the effect that a mixup in orders was responsible for the accident. Dispatchers said that orders had been given for the train to take a switch which pairs were being made on the main line. The train crew said these orders had not been received.

Marion, O., June 19.—Leonard Hoffman, 18, of Gallion, is dead and Miss Roxalena Garcelon, 18, Charleston, W. Va., is in a critical condition in City hospital, after having been thrown from a roller coaster in which they were riding last night at Crystal Lake park here.

Hoffman died at 7:25 this morning without having regained consciousness. His skull was fractured when his head struck a wooden guard rail in the fall. The girl suffered internal injuries and a possible broken back.

According to other passengers in the three car train, the pair were hurled from their seats as the cars shot over a "hump," falling to the track below. It is thought that they had loosened the guard belt which each passenger is obliged to fasten before beginning the trip.

ELEVEN OF WHISKEY CONSPIRATORS WILL RECEIVE SENTENCES

Russell Among Convicted To
Hear Penalty Saturday—
Will Be Heavy

Cleveland, O., June 19.—The eleven known members of the great Haymer whiskey conspiracy, convicted or who pleaded guilty in federal court here will be sentenced by Judge D. C. Westenhaver tomorrow morning.

Joshua E. Russell, deposed federal prohibition director of Ohio, Merle B. Copeland, executive clerk and Warren E. Barnett, prominent Columbus lawyer and politician, who were found guilty by a jury here last week, probably will receive the heaviest penalties.

The eight other men in the plot that flooded northern Ohio with government bonded whiskey, have pleaded guilty and some testified against Russell, Copeland and Barnett. It is conceded in federal court that helping the government cases lightens sentences.

Judge Westenhaver, however, has openly declared that the defendants who testified could expect no leniency. The maximum penalty is two years in Atlanta penitentiary and $10,000 fine. Other principals in the plot who will be sentenced are:

Peter J. Higgins, Pat J. Scanlon; Ed Scanlon; Carl Flaps and Frank Evans, all of Youngstown; Harry Gossberg, Armand A. Gardos and Louis Gluck, Cleveland; Abe Ungeler, Columbus broker, confessed member of the ring received immunity for his testimony.

SINCLAIR WINS TEA POT DOME OIL CASE

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 19.—Harry F. Sinclair won the famous Tea Pot Dome oil lease case this afternoon when Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy read his decision in the action wherein the United States government sought to annul leases made to Sinclair on 3,000 acres of naval oil land in Wyoming valued at $50,000,000. The leases were made by A. B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

Judge Lacey, 80 year old "little Napoleon," local counsel for the Sinclair interests, was on hand with several minor Sinclair officials for the reading of the decision. Federal District Attorney Walton, of this city, represented the government in the proceedings. Judge Kennedy spent more than six weeks studying the voluminous sheets of testimony, depositions and briefs which far exceeded the million mark in wordage.

Trial of the suit began here March 9.

OHIO AUTO OWNERS AGAINST GAS TAX

Cedar Point, June 19.—A general feeling that the gas tax is all wrong, that there ought to be more and better roads and that the motorist is not getting the attention to which he is entitled at the hands of the state, the county and the municipality were the outstanding features of the opening of the annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association here.

The convention has brought together about five hundred delegates and an equal number of visitors.

The morning session was devoted to welcoming formalities and routine business.

FIVE KILLED; SIX HURT

Cincinnati, June 19.—Failure of another motorist to use his "dimmers" is said to have caused an automobile accident in which one man was killed and five other persons injured near Dent, O., early Thursday.

Charles Hirsch, 29, a chauffeur was driving the auto which was wrecked. Hirsch was blinded by the glaring lights of an approaching machine and lost control of his car, which swerved from the road.

Frederick Bauersfeld, 40, was dead when taken from the wreck. His wife, Hanna Bauersfeld, 38, and son, Charles, 14, Margaret Rapp 14, John Kramer 21, and Hirsch, were injured. Kramer is expected to die and Mrs. Bauersfeld is seriously hurt.

PATENT RELICS TO BE RECLAIMED NOW

Washington, June 19.—Down an alley in an old barn in Washington, a group of scientists and curators started today to dig into a pile of junk that represents the original efforts of some of the world's most noted inventors.

In that collection, which includes inventions that have made history and revolutionized industrial processes, are 155,000 models of mechanical devices submitted to the patent office between 1790 and 1880.

For years these relics of the industrial past have been stored in a rattle trap barn, constantly exposed to destruction by fire or removal by thieves, in spite of their priceless historical value.

Those of historical value will be presented to public and private museums. Others will be sold or destroyed prior to July 15. Officials estimate that it has cost the government $200,000 to maintain the collection since 1884.

EXPLORER TO AGAIN ATTEMPT AIR TRIP; NORWAY IS JUBILANT

Flyers Get Greetings at

Oslo, June 19.—Captain Raold Amundsen was the national hero of Norway today. An official message of congratulation was forwarded by the Norwegian government to the explorer, who with his party, has returned safely at King's Bay, Spitzbergen after being missing twenty eight days in the regions of the North Pole.

"The Norwegian government," the message said, "sends you and your brave companions hearty greetings and congratulations on your wonderful journey. Welcome home."

Amundsen, Ellsworth and the expedition crew of four men returned yesterday to King's Bay, aboard a Danish sailing steamer.

The expedition got to within 150 miles of the North Pole according to advices today. No land was sighted.

Amundsen plans, it was said, again to try to fly to the pole.

Details of Amundsen's daring trip were eagerly awaited by all Norway today. The news of his safety was received with rejoicing. National anthems were played in public places and crowds stood in the streets, cheering.

There was much conjecture here today what Amundsen's conclusions will be as a result of his flight. He said he was not able to see many miles beyond the point where one of his aeroplanes was frozen in an ice lane. When he started on the return journey in the second plane, he said his "observation" indicated there was no land in the vicinity of the North Pole.

It is believed from preliminary reports which have come from him at King's Bay that he is convinced that on the Norwegian side of the Polar Regions there is nothing but ice and open water.

Explorers and scientists here were discussing the probable effect of Amundsen's experience on the other exploration parties and specifically whether it would deter the MacMillan expedition which had been preparing to leave the United States.

Throughout Norway there were many expressions of condolence for Lieutenant Ellsworth, the Ohio aviator who accompanied Amundsen.

Ellsworth's father, who helped finance the expedition, died in Italy while the world was wondering whether the North Pole flyers were dead or alive.

Ellsworth was greatly moved on his arrival at King's Bay to learn of his father's death. He was quoted as saying that all of the money coming to him from the estate of his father would be at the disposal of Amundsen for further exploration.

Early reports of Amundsen's experience do not indicate the expedition suffered hardships, although scientists here emphasized that the Amundsen feat required great fortitude and persistence.

Amundsen had not reached a decision whether to return to Lady Franklin Bay 130 miles from King's Bay, for the aeroplane which he left there when the returning expedition boarded the Norwegian steamer. It was not thought here he would go to Lady Franklin Bay, but would send a salvage crew or request the Norwegian government to dispatch a cruiser to bring back the plane.

There was another possibility that either the steamer Farm or Hobby, which aided Amundsen in getting started on his initial flight, would go to Lady Franklin Bay.

The viewpoint of Norwegian scientists on Amundsen's experience, were summed up by Dr. Skattum, president of the Norwegian geographical society.

"It was not expected said Dr. Skattum, that Captain Amundsen could land at the exact situation of the North Pole. The fact that he has been away twenty eight days proved that he has obtained useful observation data in spite of great difficulties."

"It was a far easier feat for him when he reached the South Pole. Then he had land all the time."

KIRBY TAKES STAND AS OWN STAR WITNESS IN TRIAL FOR LARCENY

Fix, of Cleveland.

Previously Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, presiding, had overruled a motion by Kirby's attorney for a directed verdict of not guilty.

MODISH MITZI—Adelaide Rises To An Emergency

By JAY V. JAY

Adelaide appears a bit perturbed. There seems to be no reason for it. She is wearing a charming evening dress charmingly, and she is looking at nothing more disturbing than Mitzi and Polly engaged in amiable conversation. They are not even talking about her.

Mitzi's new gown is something to talk about, though. "Quite the very newest thing," Mitzi is explaining. "Not really any more fashionable than having the skirt fullness in front, but just a little bit newer. That's why I got it and I'm sure there isn't another one here this evening."

"Not that it really matters," murmurs Adelaide to herself, "but, then, why let her do it?" Adelaide's straight gown with its round neckline slips over her head as easily backwards as forwards. Then a bit of adjusting to the ribbon streamer and Adelaide surveys herself.

A complete success. If Mitzi has an evening gown with the new back fullness, so has Adelaide. Mitzi is wondering if that dress isn't vaguely familiar... a porcelain blue chiton. Her own is coral, trimmed with dyed mouffon. Its odd back neckline is new and quite piquant.

BUSINESS WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS AT ANNUAL MEET

Miss Nelle Fletcher has been chosen to guide the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club the coming year, succeeding Miss Faye Ledbetter. It was announced at the final meeting of the year, held on the lawn at the home of Miss Elsie Canby, Thursday evening.

Miss Fletcher has taken an active part in the club work since its organization and has held various other offices during the past few years.

Other officers for the ensuing year are: Miss Henryetta Logan, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Lichter, recording secretary; Miss Nelle McKay, corresponding secretary and Miss Edith Marshall, treasurer.

Committee chairmanships are appointed offices and will be announced later. Following the election announcement, Miss Ledbetter presented Miss Fletcher with the club charter, gavel and a bouquet of roses, expressing her good wishes. Miss Fletcher asked the co-operation of the members in a short talk of acceptance.

The annual open outdoor meeting was attended by ninety of the club members and their guests. The beautiful lawn at the Canby home continued well with the arrangements of the meeting. The floral background formed a perfect setting for a charming play, "The Romancers," translated from the French, presented by the dramatic art class.

Only the first act, a complete story in itself of the three-act play, was presented, the Misses Doris Meahl, Clara Wright, Elsie Canby, Virginia Fletcher and Mrs. Clara Reutinger, taking leading parts. Other characters including bandits, eunuchs, musicians, and desperadoes, were taken by other club members.

After the business meeting, when the Misses Allegra Hawes and Dorothy Hester, delegates to the state convention at Cleveland, gave their reports, and annual reports were given by officers and committee chairmen, E. Matthews, of Antioch College, presented the Antioch plan of "health shoes," to the club. He displayed several models, made on a last fashioned at the college, which have been said by experts to be the right type shoes for the proper growth of the feet of women.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

OUR CHAMPION LOSERS.

WE all know how the great fleet of merchant ships now on the hands of the government came into existence. We began it at a time when enemy submarines were rapidly destroying the available shipping of the allies, and the issue of the war seemed to depend on more than counterbalancing this destruction. We could not foretell the probable duration of the war, and it seemed best—or rather, safest—to build on an enormous scale. When the war broke, there were of course a great number of ships only partly built, with others legally contracted for, and it was deemed best to finish them, rather than to scrap the whole outfit as it stood. Many now think that this decision was unwise, but that is all in the past, and the important question now concerns the future.

During 1924, a little over 300 freighters were operated by the government. The cost of operating them was $90,878,000, and the revenue accruing from them only $63,484,000 leaving a loss of about $27,393,000 to be met by the American taxpayer. The only ships operated at a profit were 17 tankers, which earned over $865,000 above expenses. The passenger ships operated all recorded a loss. The Leviathan made 13 round trips across the Atlantic during the season, at a loss of more than $1,000,000. Officials of the fleet are said to justify the running of the Leviathan and other passenger ships at a loss, on the ground that they serve to attract trade to the government cargo vessels, but it would be difficult, one imagines, to substantiate that claim.

It is no wonder, with this record, that congress, the administration, and thoughtful citizens in private life, are somewhat worried over the outlook. Just how much is the country willing to pay, in constant losses on operation, in order to be able to say that it possesses a great merchant marine? President Harding reached the conclusion that the fleet should be put on a subsidy basis, but congress could not be persuaded, evidently believing that the general sentiment of the country is against a permanent ship subsidy policy. It is a hard knot to untangle, both politically and economically, and no one seems yet to have devised a formula which promises to win public approval. About the only sign of progress towards a solution lies in the fact that the longer we delay the solution, the more of the ships wear out, and hence the less the problem becomes.

NARCOTICS.

VIOLATIONS of the Harrison anti-narcotic law are increasing with a total of between 110,000 and 150,000 drug addicts in the country now, according to Major Roy A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner.

This statement, coming from Haynes himself, may cause wonder as to why he should interest himself in the drug situation when federal liquor law enforcement is still enough of a problem to keep him busy.

It is possible there may be some connection between the two, and that Haynes is attempting to show that curbing of the liquor flow through enforcement has turned the more serious liquor addicts into drug addicts in seeking for the stimulant that their systems crave.

If his figures presage a growing condition of this nature, America may find itself in the position of having to turn its attention to another grave situation. The possibility of the suggestion is considered grave when it is remembered that the smuggling of narcotics can be so much more easily accomplished than the smuggling of whiskey.

One drug bootlegger can carry enough drugs into this country in a suit case to supply hundreds with the narcotic it is said, landing at night along unprotected shores from vessels stopping out in the neutral zone.

If the drug trafficking is on the increase it will serve to detract considerably from the glory of the prohibition departments report, as given by Haynes, that considerable progress is being made in that direction.

BETRAYED BY CAESAR

Last night he took my Caesar from the shelf,
My school days Caesar of the long ago,
For he has come to Latin now himself,
The Latin which I learned but do not know;
And running through its pages found with glee
And old report card which belonged to me.

The ink had faded with the passing years,
But legible the figures still remained;
Vain is the speech I've poured upon his ears,
For proof of my performance he had gained.
He laughed aloud and shouted out: "I see
The best you got in Latin was a three!"

Betrayed by Caesar! Thirty years or more
That book has waited for his youthful eyes,
Waiting for him to run its pages o'er
And catch his father in a pack of lies.

"A three in algebra! Just fair!" said he,
"Couldn't my dad get better than a three?"

I blushed, I know I blushed to see his grin.
"You weren't so good yourself," he chuckled low.
"I thought you gathered all the honors in.
It seems to me that once you told me so."
And then I laughed, to hear the ras-cally add,
"You didn't always stick to business, dad."

A reader, (Mrs. H.) has requested an article on cake mixing. Cakes are divided into two main classes: those which contain butter, and those which do not.

Under the "butter" cake classification, come simple layer, loaf and cup cakes, rich butter cakes, fruit cake, chocolate cakes, Devils' Food cake, gingerbread, etcetera. Under the "without butter" head comes ordinary sponge cake (containing both the whites of eggs and the yolks); white sponge cake or Angel cake (whites only); and Sunshine cake which contains either all yolks or yolks in greater number than whites.

To mix a simple butter cake (I will tell how to mix sponge cakes sometime next week, begin by rinsing out the mixing bowl with hot water and drying it. Into this warm bowl put one tablespoon of butter and with a wooden spoon, cream till very soft. Then add one cup of granulated sugar, a little at a time, creaming constantly. Next add the yolks of two eggs which you have previously beaten to a light but not stiff frothiness. Mix thoroughly. Now also add one half cup of sweet, cold milk alternately with one and one-half cups of bread flour (two level teaspoons of baking powder must previously have been sifted with this flour) and beat vigorously. Add one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract and continue beating, for several minutes at least. For the more you beat the batter at this stage (before folding in the two stiffly whipped egg whites) the finer grained it will be. Just before baking, fold in the whites, turn the mixture into a greased loaf-cake pan, slip it into a moderate oven and bake for 40 minutes.

Fruit Cake: You can make a good fruit cake of the above given batter. If you will add to it one cup of dried currants, one cup of seedless raisins, one cup of sliced citron, and one-half teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

But here is a point which the inexperienced housewife seldom understands: that when eggs are beaten separately (as above directed) the result is a light, fluffy cake which should be eaten the same day. But if you want a cake that will keep several days and remain moist, beat the egg yolks with the whites and add them just before adding the flour and milk.

BROTHER

The only brother I ever had died when he was but a few months old. But in the fancy of my heart the incident was but one of sleep from which he awoke long years ago to stand beside me in spiritual stead ever since—when I most need him.

I have always felt how fortunate anyone must be who has a brother.

So close is the relationship that custom has tried to pull it away from its own nest and expand its life into other channels. And so we hear of the brotherhood of man, of brotherly kindnesses, and of other attributes that mean nearness and harmony of thought and action.

There is everything fine and noble and inspiring in a brother's loyalty and companionship.

Having no living brother, I have often picked from my little handful of friends one about whom I have woven the garments of a brother. But all too often the garments have slipped off or have been laid aside. And the brother of my dreams has vanished!

Still I have been fortunate in having much of a brother's loyalty and love handed back to me from among those whom I have trusted and loved.

There is something very thrilling about the word "brother." And though I have missed having a brother, it is the next thing to have been the father of a wonderful pair of brothers.

A brother understands so much more and sees so much further than any other person.

I always liked the incorporated name where the brothers were added. When I was a boy I liked certain cough drops because they were made by brothers whose pictures on the box made me feel they got on wonderfully well and gained great happiness out of life.

There are many brothers who miss out on their job. I wish that I might have their chance. For to be a brother is a great chance and an opportunity to serve double in the world.

Nothing should ever come between brothers.

JEFFERSONVILLE TO OBSERVE BLUE LAWS

The flame of "blue law" agitation which flickered and then was extinguished in Xenia, has flared up again in Jeffersonville.

Demands for enforcement have been made by a number of citizens of the village upon Mayor L. O. Fultz of Jeffersonville, it was revealed Friday.

Mayor Fultz intends to comply with the requests and nail down the Sunday closing lid it is said.

A mayor's order would close practically every business house in Jeffersonville with the exception of drug stores, restaurants and hotels which are exempt. Other business places including pool rooms, groceries, meat markets and gasoline filling stations, which are usually open on Sundays, would be affected.

Mayor Fultz will issue his Sunday closing order effective Sunday June 21 it is indicated.

BAYLIFFS HOPE TO WIN FIRST GAME IN CONTEST ON SUNDAY

The Bowersville Bayliffs, Greene County's hard luck baseball nine, will make a determined effort to get on the right side of the win and lose column in the game with the Springfield Roush Constructors Sunday afternoon at Bowersville.

The Bayliffs lost a heart-breaker to Centerville last Sunday in an extra-inning tussle when the Bowersville twirler weakened under the extreme heat and allowed the visiting team to tally the needed runs to win.

The new Bowersville pitcher, Shaw, exhibited good form on the mound in the last game and is counted upon to turn in the initial win Sunday.

The Bayliffs are represented by a strong team this season. Fielding is up to par, pitching has been good, but sharp resounding hits, have been lacking in the pinches. The latter fault was partially overcome in the last game and members of the team have apparently found their batting eye, so that good results in the hitting line may be expected Sunday. The Roush Constructors team is the former Springfield Ramblers under a new name. The change in name was made due to the fact that the Ramblers team is being financed by the Roush Construction Company.

The Springfield team, playing for the first time under its new name last week, defeated London by a 7 to 6 score. Redman is the team's star pitcher and opposing batters have experienced trouble in solving his offerings.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

RESERVES TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD TEAM

The Reserves will stack up against one of the best teams they have yet faced when they meet the Millard Clothiers of Springfield at Washington Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Clothiers are formerly the 6th Athletic nine which showed here several times when the Bayliffs were playing. On one occasion they beat the Bayliffs by a 9 to 0 count while the next game they lost 8 to 4. This season the Millards have dropped but one game and this was to the F. O. E. of Springfield in the K10 League. They beat the Eagles though the next game they played.

Fountain and Police News

It's a mighty good thing our fountain holds a lot of ice for it would have burnt out a bearing last week if it hadn't been frosted. Xenia sure is a thirsty place and they sure do bring in big ones for us to cure.

Talcum Powders

We have 38 1/2 brands of talc priced anywhere from 10c to a dollar a can. No matter how priced your hide is we've a talc to match it.

Tank News

I was out to the pool yesterday and I sure saw plenty of my swimming caps bobbing about. I came back and re-ordered and by the time this ad is printed they'll be in. Come in and get first crack at 'em.

Insects

We've got arsenate of lead, Paris Green and slug shot all which are aimed at bug funer-

For years I've been wanting to put that statement in print and up to now I never had the nerve! Here's WHY we don't give 100 percent service:

First place you folks don't come in REGULARLY! If I knew that there was going to be 492 customers each and every day and that we could divide that 492 into the 12 hours of the day, I'd figure out that I'd have a helper who would take 20 of these customers off my hands, thus allowing me 5 minutes to a customer. Naturally I wouldn't eat or do any thinking or buying during this time. And I wouldn't mind very much at that. But what do you do NOW?

There'll be several hours during the day when Jake and me will carry on a fine contest of thumb twiddling and then, just as we figger we'd better light a cigar, 15 or 20 of you folks will bust in all wantin' to be waited on at once! And Jake and the rest of us sure stretch a leg trying to please all of you. But that's NOT 100 percent SERVICE! If I gave 100 percent service, I'd keep ten clerks ambushed in the back of the store ready to spring out on the floor immediately a new customer entered. If I did THAT, I'd have to quit eating buying gas, living at home, wearing clothes, shaving and going to shows. Either that or double the price of everything in the store.

Now you know where I stand, do your stuff!

DOC SAYRE

Shorty Says:-

I feel like two bushels of mush in a bushel bag in this outfit — spilling what I mean. There's plenty bull around this store without me entering two calves this way, tho I will say I don't show up so bad at that. Doc and the rest of 'em claim a man to be well rounded out ought to play golf. I've been rounded out for years and all I've ever played is poker. I've got a natural "poker face." I can grin and frown and worry and all anyone can see is my beard twitch and up to yet no one has been able to read the twitches. Take a smooth face and you can read it like a book. Gosh, what I'd do to Doc!!

I start golf next week. I'm practicing wearing the suit this week.

als. This is the time of year a bug or an insect goes in strong for large families. Use your own judgment.

More About Bugs

Fly Tox is sprayed, Black Flag is powdered and neither one is a tonic for flies. If you want still more action we have Roach Killer, Ant Killer, Rat Poison and Bug Killers all calculated to discourage.

Spots

Are all right on leopards but don't help a skirt or a pair of pants none. Elkays and Muffi remove 'em.

Freckles and Sunburn

Sunex PREVENTS sunburn and worries a freckle so much it leaves. UNGUENTINE takes the heat and smart away after you've GOT sunburn.

Feet!

Those of us who have feet should take care of them for we don't get a second set like teeth. Tiz and Rex foot powder do that little thing most handily while a corn plaster or a corn pad helps one to strut most happily.

Germicidal Soap

Should be the national soap for summer use! It cleanses, heals, kills germs and PREVENTS PERSPIRATION ODORS all with one big swipe. It's the perfect soap and while a bit more expensive worth many times its price to the fastidious person.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL AID HEART TAG DAY CAMPAIGN SATURDAY

"Have a Heart and Help an Unfortunate," will be the appeal of many of Xenia's young people Saturday, who, under the leadership of Mrs. J. J. Stout, will co-operate with the Volunteers of America, in helping to put over the tag day in behalf of Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth's many activities in Ohio.

Headquarters are to be at the Assembly Room, Court House, where those who have been invited to compete for the many pretty prizes and movie passes generously offered by Xenia merchants and theater managers, are asked to come Saturday morning, soon after 9 o'clock, to receive their tags and instructions.

For the one who obtains the largest amount for their tags, J. Thorb Charters, Jeweler, will give a $4.50 gold pencil. The second prize will be a $1.75 fountain pen, given by Sayre and Hemphill. The third winner will receive a pair of roller skates, donated by the Greene County Hardware Company.

The fourth prize is a kodak given by Sohu's Drug Store. The fifth, a $1.50 box of candy, offered by Sayre and Hemphill. The sixth prize, given by Jobs Brothers, is a compact.

"During the past three years," said Mrs. Booth, in one of her recent radio talks, "more than 100,000 children in America, have been helped to future good citizenship through our organization."

Mrs. Booth's work has the endorsement of President Coolidge, who says: "I have so long been familiar with the work of the Volunteers of America and entertain so high a personal regard for General and Mrs. Booth and their associates that I find a special satisfaction in expressing the hope that your fine endeavors may continue to be amply supported by the public."

The organization has headquarters in Ohio at Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Mansfield, Canton, Columbus Dayton and Cincinnati.

FATHER'S DAY WILL BE OBSERVED SUNDAY

"Father's Day," sponsored by clothiers and furnishers of the country, will be observed Sunday. Business men are seeking the co-operation of members of "Father's" family to see that he is remembered along with mother, who now has the vote and equal rights.

Suggestions are being made of the gift of hats, shoes, socks, ties and collars for "the governor." He might enjoy a box of cigars too, or a new golf club.

Xenia merchants are favoring the plan, and emphasizing the importance of "Father's Day."

This money has been turned in the county's general fund.

LIFE SAVING EXPERT OF AMERICAN RED CROSS GIVES SWIMMING POINTS

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixth article in the series of twelve giving pointers with a view to lessening drownings. The seventh will appear tomorrow.

LESSON VI TENDENCY TO "SHOW-OFF" FATAL IN WATER BY COMMODORE W. E. LONGFELLOW.

Life Saving Expert American National Red Cross. (Written for International News Service.)

Swimming is the first water sport to learn. If you are considering the thrills of surf riding, aquaplaning, canoeing under sail, speeding 40 to 50 miles an hour in a high-powered motor boat, or even a fishing trip in a small boat you will be safer if you first learn how to swim.

No water sport is safe for a "sink easy," as a new swimmer that cannot go 50 feet is called. In many children's camps new swimmers are required to wear a small fishing sinker around the neck with a piece of bright-colored ribbon. A fisherman's float or "dobber" is sometimes used instead to give the swimming instructor a chance to watch these novices in the water. Some such plan of marking all inexperienced swimmers at shore resorts would simplify the whole problem of guarding bathers against drowning.

WATER EGOTISM FATAL
The one who can swim a little or can do a few showy dives without being an efficient swimmer is the most dangerous factor in the water. In analyzing the causes of drowning, the "show-off" the "half-baked" swimmer who insists on being the center of attraction heads the list by a big margin.

The Delaware Safety Council, analyzing drownings in that State, discovered that males between the ages of 18 and 35 (the mating ages) were the most frequent victims of drownings. They felt the impulse to prove to the admiring onlookers that they were the best aquatic performers—they dove into shallow water, they swam toward mid-stream or they entered the breakers and started for the other side of the ocean without thought of coming back and without the ability to return. This type of fellow would be just as popular and far happier if he won the right to wear a life saving emblem on his bathing suit.

Be an efficient swimmer!

AUTOS DAMAGED

Two autos were damaged in a collision between a truck of the City Waterworks Department and another machine at Main and Galloway Streets Thursday.

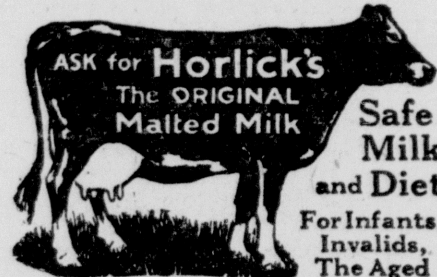

The Ford truck, driven by Arthur Sidenstricker, was being driven west on Main Street while the second car, driven by a man named Cook, was proceeding east on Main Street. The second car, in order to make the Galloway Street turn, is said to have cut in and collided with the truck.

The city machine was damaged to the extent of a broken fender, front wheel and axle. The occupants were not hurt.

IS BOUND OVER

Gabriel Lytle, of Circleville, was bound over to Common Pleas Court by Squire J. E. Jones in Justice of the Peace Court Wednesday when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of disposing of mortgaged property. His bond was fixed at $500 by Squire Jones.

Lytle was arrested Monday by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Special Deputy Sheriff Dilver Belden.

What one Woman learned 35 Years ago

Years ago, when the first spoonful of Calumet Baking Powder was used, one housewife learned the secret of success on bake-day. She found that what she had thought bad luck in the past was really the fault of inferior leaveners.

Over a third of a century has passed since that housewife experienced the perfect results that came from using

CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Today millions upon millions have realized the same satisfaction that goes with using a perfect baking powder.

Calumet has more friends than any of the other brands on the market today—women who after one trial found that for uniform, wholesome bakings it has no equal.

Don't forget that a few cents worth of unreliable baking powder can ruin several dollars worth of other ingredients used in baking. Use the best and know what the results will be.
